TWENTY-NINTH YEAR NO. 2

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, JANUARY 5, 1906.

PRICE $1.00 A YEAR.

NO HIGH SALARIES

For Village Officials this Year. Mayor McFarland didn't need the Money and Knocked what the Public calls the "Salary Grab Ordinance" into a "Cocked Hat"—Finances Low and Taxes High—Council Committees Named.

An afternoon session of council was held Monday evening to finish up the business for the year. The day is such that all business must be finished before the first Monday in January, but for some reason or another the Monday evening meeting was necessary.

All members were present as it was the re-organization of the village legislative body.

Out the first business to be taken up Monday evening was to undo what had been done December 23 in what many have termed the "salary grab." As there was to be only one new face in the council, the matter was an easy matter for every body to get busy and boost up his salary. Most all the salaries were raised except for the members of council, theirs being governed by state law.

For some reason the administration that has cost the taxpayers a rate of 2-30, council either by some influence on the part of those interested or on their own provocation elevated the salaries of mayor, marshal, night watchman, clerk and street commissioner.

The mayor has been drawing $100 under the high tax system inaugurated by the chairman of the finance committee but the new ordinance was to give him $800 and the taxpayers a reduced rate. Something new to those who follow finance.

To help reduce the "tax" the night watchman was advanced from $480 to $600. The marshal from $360 to $365. The street commissioner from $125 to $150. Last but not least was the "gangs" code, the clerk, who must be rewarded for faith obedience and his salary was jumped up $30 annually.

But all the boosting of salaries was for naught, it was actually so raw that the thoughts of the "grab" fairly choked some of those that had been handed a plumb from the "gangs" Holiday tree. There was one that delivered a sad blow to the village legislative body when he asked to be put back at his old rating. He told of the "talk" about the "salary grab" and rather than have the public believe that he had a hand in it, he would be satisfied with his old salary. There was no sensation caused by any of the other members of the administration that were to be benefited by the raise, wanting their names off the list, "fainted money" didn't seem to alarm them in the least.

Mayor McFarland when he asked to be given his old salary in preference to the new "deal" caused more than one in the room at the time to bite his lips and survey the situation with a keen eye. After some discussion council finally blundered onto the fact that bonds, virtually mortgaging, would have to be issued to carry on the village government under the new system proposed. Just so soon as this obstacle was located there were motions given to put every body just where they had been. But what about the cost of the blunder? Who pays the cost of the publication of the ordinance? And how could an "official organ" be supported with out the "pap"? Then why speak of the good management of the finances with the tax rate where it is? Is the "goodness" of the management to be determined by what the property owner has to pay? The regular business was finished and the council adjourned sine die.

The organization of the new body was not marked by any particular feature. There were no speeches, no flowers, no cigars, everything being very quiet and peaceable, probably due to the fact that the Mayor nearly upset things earlier in the evening with one even warning the members of what was coming.

The Mayor's list of committees was read as follows:

STREET
C. C. Wetmer
Joseph McAfee
J. H. Andrew
Thomas Walker.

FINANCE
J. H. Andrew
C. H. Gillough.

FIRE
Thomas Walker.

LIGHT
Joseph McAfee.

PUMP
G. A. Shrodes.

CLAIMS
C. H. Gillough
G. A. Shrodes.

The bond of D. H. McFarland for mayor, with J. C. Barber and J. R. Cooper on it for $1,000 was approved.

Council elected Henry Robinson as street lighter at a salary of $16 per month.

R. W. Kennon was again chosen as chief engineer of the fire department and night watchman at a salary of $40 per month.

Mayor McFarland appointed Gillough and Andrew as an auditing committee to examine Jacob Slegler's books before they are turned over to J. C. Barber. The appointment of Mr. Andrew to this committee when he is a member of the Sinking fund trustees, a part of the financial end to be examined is a little out of the ordinary.

ATTEMPTED HORSE STEALING.

There were two attempts at horse stealing some time after midnight Friday on the Cedarville and Jamestown pike. The horses were gotten out and hatched up, but for some reason were left by the thieves.

A horse and buggy was taken from Mr. Tom Fields and driven as far as Mrs. E. O. Bull's where it is supposed that the men were to get a horse and buggy, but were frightened away by the horse not being used to being hitched double.

At Mr. Field's the horse and buggy was driven out the driveway within a few feet of his house. The dog gave some warning but no attention was paid to it.

The horse and buggy belonging to Mrs. Bull is supposed to have run away with the men in the buggy after getting it out on the pike, as it was found only a short distance east of Mr. R. C. Watt's residence. The dog was found torn off and the horse was found lying down beside the buggy with the bridle reins still fastened. There were indications that the horse had been there for several hours. The most mysterious thing is that the buggy cushion was found here in town near "Dutch" Coster's residence. It is supposed that it was carried there by the men as a blind. The other articles that were in the buggy at the time, were found scattered along in the pike near Mr. Watt's residence. The animal had not been driven from all appearances.

Mr. R. C. Watt and son, William, started out to look after things and assist in getting every thing straightened out. Mr. Watt's own barn had been entered and the farm wagon and buggy run out of the barn. However there were no harness about and this fact alone is probably all that saved him from having a horse stolen. The harness is usually kept in another place.

The barn of Mr. Samuel Sanders was also entered but nothing taken. Mr. James Creswell reports that his barn doors were open about midnight, they being found in this condition after the family had returned from a gathering at Mr. Samuel Creswell's.

There is not much of a clue to work on other than what Mr. C. C. Wetmer, furnished through a dream. He reports that early that morning he had a dream that his livery barn was on fire and he arose and went to his stable. Upon his arrival there he found everything to be all right. He stepped into the office and found his stable men asleep, but there were two other men there at that time that had evidently just arrived and were in the act of getting warm. As it was rather early for these men to be out and to be found where they were there actions were naturally to be questioned.

UNCLE SAM'S KNOTTY PROBLEM

Uncle Sam—1. I can't get it through my noodle just how that band of law makers are going to pass and enforce any laws to punish the men that they represent.

CHURCH DINNER AND MEETING.

Business and pleasure was combined at the annual meeting of the Reformed Presbyterian Congregation in the church parlors Tuesday. The church is admirably fitted for social occasions, being equipped with kitchen, dining room, dishes, silverware and all the culinary conveniences.

The ladies of the church prepared an excellent dinner for something over 150 persons. The ministers of the town, the professors of the college and many of the students were guests of the congregation.

After a pleasant social hour the annual congregational meeting was held. The new trustees chosen were Messrs. John Stormont and G. H. Creswell, the terms of Messrs. Harry Liff and J. H. Stormont having expired. W. W. Creswell was elected treasurer in the place of James Gray. W. H. Creswell was elected chairman over S. C. Wright.

IS RE-ELECTED.

At the annual meeting of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league in Columbus on January 3, Wayne B. Wheeler, was re-elected as superintendent of the league. His report for the past year was that 152 elections have been held, the "drys" winning 106 of them. Fifteen county seats have voted out the saloons and four entire counties are "dry." About 65 per cent of the territory in the state has voted out the saloons.

MANY NEW MEN FOR

Places in the House and Senate for the Coming Three Years According to Reports—Robert Gilson is Sergeant-at-Arms after a Long Contest—A Chaplin for the Senate—Primary Bill has been put in the Hopper—Other News.

Columbus, (Special to the Herald)—The main topic here since the organization of the House has been the fight that resulted over the contest for Sergeant-at-Arms. This was the only office where the members divided on the factional order. The fight at the last was between Robert Gilson of Jefferson county and Andrew Jackson, of Greene county, he having held the place for a number of years. Beckett, the Franklin county candidate withdrew on Saturday before the caucus in favor of Gilson. Both Jackson and Gilson have claimed for weeks that each had enough to win. Politics was played as it never was before and Jackson had a fight similar to Herriek in the last campaign, a thousand and one charges placed against him. The result of this fight shows that men that want public office must be one place or another.

Jackson has played double for some years between the Foraker and Dick factions. Originally he was a Foraker admirer and trained in his camp, but when he saw that Hanna and Dick were mustering up a powerful organization he joined these forces. The Foraker men never forget these tricks neither do they lose sight of what a man does after he leaves their camp. Once into the Dick camp Jackson has made good with them until of late, when he began to straddle and was called onto the carpet for his actions at a primary when the orders had been issued to have no trouble whatever.

Then to make matters worse his prediction went against Herriek by 10 votes and the Dick people cut him adrift. The next move was to get a man for his place and the Dick forces united on Gilson. Gilson also had the strong support of the Anti-Saloon league, which in its self was enough to defeat Jackson. The Foraker forces were appealed to by Jackson and sweet things put into the ears of these men which apparently made him as strong as ever. But revenge was sweet and the Forakerites sacrificed the place as an object for Jackson and any other than might attempt to do the same thing.

After the caucus the Democrats claimed that Jackson wanted to make terms with them on the Sergeant-at-Arms and take enough Republicans to select a man for this place on the floor of the House. But the Democrats knew this would not do when it came to getting desired legislation in a branch that was Republican by a small majority. Consequently Gilson was chosen for the place.

The Committee from the Columbus Board of Trade that is caring for the inaugural arrangements has issued invitations to the newspaper men of the state to attend a banquet at the Hotel Hartman on Monday evening, in honor of the many distinguished guests that will attend the inauguration.

The upper branch of the legislature has never been opened by prayer and Senators Hypes, Drake and Lamb were appointed by a committee to arrange for a chaplain.

Speaker Thompson, has ordered the Sergeant-at-Arms to keep all lobbyists from the floor of the House. This move met with hearty responses from all parties.

Word has been received here that Governor-elect Pattison will be in Columbus Friday or Saturday, preparatory to his inauguration on Monday.

William V. Gilson, Chief of the Gallon Inquirer, has been appointed commission clerk to Governor-elect Pattison. Gilson is 27 years old, married and a graduate of Gallon schools and Wooster college.

There are many members of the House that are determined to have the inheritance tax repealed regardless of Governor Herriek's message. The members have about united on this measure despite party lines.

Sergeant-at-Arms Gilson has named his list of porters for the House. The list has been cut down from what it was last year. Only 19 men were needed. The cut here will be a saving to the state of about $80 per day.

The railroads have cut off the passes for the year 1906 to the members of the legislature and many others as well, and the law making body will now cut off one cent per mile in railroad fare. Four measures have been prepared for the two cent fare and no rebates in mileage books.

Senator Williams has offered a bill for the extension of the terms of office of the Seventy-seventh General Assembly and the offices of the executive departments to three years, so as to make them conform to the constitutional provision relating to biennial elections. The bill takes effect May 1st, 1906.

Governor Herriek has about 70 recess appointments to be confirmed by the new Senate. As this body is Democratic it is not likely that the appointments will be confirmed. There are a number of fat jobs in the list, oil, inspector, state fire marshal, public printer, and a number of others. There was one appointment sent to the Senate by Governor Herriek that may go through and that was the name of O. E. Bradfute, a member of the Ohio State University Board.

Senator Huffman of Butler, has put his bill for primaries in the hopper and before many days yet there will be other bills that will make the "Boss" feel bad. The bill introduced provides for all primaries on the same day, same place and under the same judges, of opposite political faith. Members of the Central Committee will have to submit their claims the same way. The primary will be compulsory and at the expense of the public and no assessments on the candidates. The bill states that the time shall be the first Saturday in September.

By those high up in the workings of the House it is claimed that Hon. George Little of Greene County will get the chairmanship of the House Committee on Public Works and will be leader on the floor on all questions relating to canals. Both parties have recognized in Mr. Little, a man strong enough to represent the people and to save the canals for public use and not allow them to pass as a gift to some politicians as was attempted in the last session of the General Assembly. It is also reported that Mr. Little has a chance at the Salaries and Fee Committee.

CARNEGIE LIBRARY FOR COLLEGE.

The following dispatch was taken out by the Cincinnati Enquirer for Monday morning and certainly will be of great interest to the people of this place and the college students and graduates:

"Rev. David McKinney, pastor of the Wesley Avenue Presbyterian Church, who is President of the Cedarville (Ohio) College, yesterday received an offer from Andrew Carnegie, the steel king, to establish a library at that institution, which at present has no adequate facilities of this kind. The matter will be at once laid before the Board of Trustees and its acceptance will be forwarded to the generous donor. The library building is to cost in the neighborhood of $10,000.

The regular announcement of the Carnegie gift was made Tuesday morning by Prof. W. R. McClesney to the students assembled in the chapel. However the amount is some what lower than that stated above. It is stated that President McKinney asked for $15,000 for an endowment and was given a building for library purposes to cost $7,500.

Wine of Cardui Cured Her.

218 South Prior Street, ARIZONA, GA., March 21, 1903.
I suffered for four months with extreme nervousness and lassitude. I had a sinking feeling in my stomach which no medicine seemed to relieve, and losing my appetite. I became weak and lost my vitality. In three weeks I lost fourteen pounds of flesh and felt that I must find speedily relief to regain my health. Having heard of Wine of Cardui, I bought a bottle and was certainly very pleased with the results. Within three days my appetite returned and my stomach troubled me no more. I could digest my food without difficulty and the nervousness gradually diminished. Nature performed her functions without difficulty and I am once more a happy and well woman.

A Silence Club.

Some time ago a curious club was formed in London. It was called the Silence club. Its membership was limited to ten, all of whom were season ticket holders on a London suburban railway, and the subscription was a silence weekly. It was established simply and solely to enable the members to read the paper on the way to town, the only occasion during the day on which the club met. The revenue derived from subscriptions was handed to the guard every Saturday morning, and in consideration of this he made a point of reserving a carriage for the members.

Impoverished Soil

Impoverished soil, like impoverished blood, needs a proper fertilizer. A chemist by analyzing the soil can tell you what fertilizer to use for different products.

If your blood is impoverished your doctor will tell you what you need to fertilize it and give it the rich, red corpuscles that are lacking in it. It may be you need a tonic, but more likely you need a concentrated fat food, and fat is the element lacking in your system.

There is no fat food that is so easily digested and assimilated as

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.
How the Days of the Week Came by Their Names.
Sunday and Monday are named from the sun and the moon, Tuesday for the god of war (Tiw or Týr), Wednesday for Woden, the god of wisdom, Thursday for Thor, the greatest deity of northern mythology. They used to say when Thor threw his wonderful hammer the noise of thunder was heard through the heavens. Thor was the only god that could not cross from earth to heaven upon the rainbow. He was so heavy and powerful the other gods feared the bow of promise would break beneath his giantlike weight.

A Feast of Strength.

Most boys will be interested in the assertion made by an English paper that "any fellow of moderate strength can lift a boy about his own weight in one hand." These are the instructions:
Ask the boy you are going to lift to stand in a corner of the room perfectly still with his hands at his sides. Place your left hand flat against the wall for support, and then bend down and place your right hand under his foot. Then gradually straighten your body, and up he will come if he keeps his legs and body perfectly rigid.
"Try to lift a light boy first," the instructor blandly adds. But here is a pastime boys of any size can try. In fact, the taller the experimenter is the more the spectators will enjoy it.

Try This Coin Trick.

Put a coin on the floor and tell your friend you will place him in such a position that he cannot pick it up with his mouth. The boy who tries to pick it up must go down and rest both on one hand and one foot, the other hand being placed on the hip. The coin is then placed between the thumb and the forefinger of the hand on the floor. The candidate must then bend forward and pick up the coin in his mouth, a feat he will find impossible without doing his nasal organ serious damage.

Tropical Lights.

In the tropics are fireflies with three eyes that make such a bright light at night that people can read by it. In Cuba the poor children gather the flies and sell them to the rich little Cuban girls and their mothers for ornaments. These sparkling little insects are worn in the hair, at the bust, or even as bright spots on bunches of flowers—of course under gauze. Children make pets of them, keep them in cages and feed them on sugar.

Keeping the "Thread" of a Story.

Each player holds the end of a ribbon or string in her hand, the other end of all the ribbons or strings being held by the leader, who begins to tell a story. Every one must pay close attention, for at any moment she may break off, at the same time pulling one of the ribbons. The holder of it without delay must take up the story and continue it until the leader pulls another ribbon, which transfers the task to some one else.

Hidden Insects.

1. I am sure you will be ever remembered if you do this deed. 2. Philip ran to help the old lady out of her carriage. 3. Did you say Peter was perfectly willing to go? Answers—1. Bec. 2. Ant. 3. Wasp. Find them if you can.

An Awful Thought.

"I'm always losing things," said Jane. "Both morning, noon and night. It would be dreadful now if I should lose my appetite!"
—Washington Star.

Black and Red.

One player holds a pack of cards and the other players guess the color. If right, he has the card; if wrong, the holder of the pack has it. The one who has the most cards is the winner.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Sunday and Monday are named from the sun and the moon, Tuesday for the god of war (Tiw or Týr), Wednesday for Woden, the god of wisdom, Thursday for Thor, the greatest deity of northern mythology. They used to say when Thor threw his wonderful hammer the noise of thunder was heard through the heavens. Thor was the only god that could not cross from earth to heaven upon the rainbow. He was so heavy and powerful the other gods feared the bow of promise would break beneath his giantlike weight.

A Feast of Strength.

Most boys will be interested in the assertion made by an English paper that "any fellow of moderate strength can lift a boy about his own weight in one hand." These are the instructions:
Ask the boy you are going to lift to stand in a corner of the room perfectly still with his hands at his sides. Place your left hand flat against the wall for support, and then bend down and place your right hand under his foot. Then gradually straighten your body, and up he will come if he keeps his legs and body perfectly rigid.

Try This Coin Trick.

Put a coin on the floor and tell your friend you will place him in such a position that he cannot pick it up with his mouth. The boy who tries to pick it up must go down and rest both on one hand and one foot, the other hand being placed on the hip. The coin is then placed between the thumb and the forefinger of the hand on the floor. The candidate must then bend forward and pick up the coin in his mouth, a feat he will find impossible without doing his nasal organ serious damage.

Tropical Lights.

In the tropics are fireflies with three eyes that make such a bright light at night that people can read by it. In Cuba the poor children gather the flies and sell them to the rich little Cuban girls and their mothers for ornaments. These sparkling little insects are worn in the hair, at the bust, or even as bright spots on bunches of flowers—of course under gauze. Children make pets of them, keep them in cages and feed them on sugar.

Keeping the "Thread" of a Story.

Each player holds the end of a ribbon or string in her hand, the other end of all the ribbons or strings being held by the leader, who begins to tell a story. Every one must pay close attention, for at any moment she may break off, at the same time pulling one of the ribbons. The holder of it without delay must take up the story and continue it until the leader pulls another ribbon, which transfers the task to some one else.

Hidden Insects.

1. I am sure you will be ever remembered if you do this deed. 2. Philip ran to help the old lady out of her carriage. 3. Did you say Peter was perfectly willing to go? Answers—1. Bec. 2. Ant. 3. Wasp. Find them if you can.

An Awful Thought.

"I'm always losing things," said Jane. "Both morning, noon and night. It would be dreadful now if I should lose my appetite!"
—Washington Star.

Black and Red.

One player holds a pack of cards and the other players guess the color. If right, he has the card; if wrong, the holder of the pack has it. The one who has the most cards is the winner.

Enforcing The Laws.

There is at the present time much being said and written about the enforcement of law. This is probably due to the new officials taking their places, many of them being elected on reform platforms.

The attention of the enforcement of the law is now the main topic in many of the cities and villages where the "open" town has existed. To some it is said that such cities as Cincinnati cannot enforce the law, but it seems probable that the law will be enforced as Governor Harrison has expressed himself in the campaign and was strongly opposed by the "liberals" on this ground.

The Governor has the power to remove any mayor that does not enforce the law and those who do not want such are uneasy. Cincinnati, Dayton, Springfield, Columbus and many of the other towns have had no enforcement of the Sunday closing law for saloons.

In Springfield Mayor James Todd has clapped down the lid and on the first day notified the officials that all the laws are on the statute books and must be enforced.

That the law can be enforced is shown by what Pittsburg and Allegheny have accomplished in this respect. Both of these cities have thousands of laboring men who are supposed to want the open town. Whether they do or do not the towns are closed. No baseball, theaters, saloons, cigar stores or soda water fountains open on Sunday. Then there is no reason why Ohio cities cannot have the law enforced.

Governor's Last Message: "Reform."

Governor Herrick certainly took the public by surprise when his last message to the legislature became known. The document comprised some 10,000 words and was read with considerable interest after the kind of an administration he has given the state.

One would imagine that Roosevelt, Hanley, Weaver, Folk or La Follette would feel the least bit jealous of the outgoing Governor after reading the reform message. Herrick even went so far as to take up one of Tom Johnson's ideas of home rule after he urged the legislature two years ago to pass a code that done away with the home rule idea.

One of the things the Governor will not give up and which was largely responsible for his defeat with numbers of voters was the inheritance tax. He in his message thinks this a just bill.

When it comes to reform Governor Herrick knows where there should be many changes in the state government. He warns against politics in public institutions; shames the legislature for the allowing of so many unnecessary attendants about the general assembly; says the publication of books of the character of "Howe's Historical Collections" for free distribution is a wrongful use of public money declares junkets to public institutions have become a burdensome expense; wants a new law for primaries and the merit system introduced; says that if the General Assembly would devote five days of the week to legislative business it would be pleasing to its constituents, shorter the session and save expense; preclaims that Ohio must either maintain the canals or abandon them; supports a county salary law; says bank inspection laws should be strengthened and warns against the professional lobby.

But in all this vast amount of reform information there is not one word about temperance, the chief issue the last campaign. Whether the vetoing of the Brannock bill was all right, the Governor does not say, neither does he say what should be done with bills of this nature that may come up at this session.

High Dow Tax Assured.

The Dow tax will be raised from $350 to $1,000 if reports are correct as to what the new legislature will do. This movement seems to have the endorsement of most all the newspapers, a large per cent of the saloon keepers and the temperance people. The raising of this tax will do away with many a saloon in the bad sections of the cities where local option is now impossible. Then there will be hundreds of saloons owned by the breweries put out of business. The saloons in the small places could not earn the tax and they would have to go out.

It is estimated that at present there is 12,000 saloons in Ohio paying the $350 annually. This means a total of $4,200,000. It is also estimated that the $1,000 tax will do away with twenty-five per cent and possible fifty per cent of the saloons. This would mean that there would be 9,000 saloons under the twenty-five per cent reduction bringing in a revenue of $9,000,000 or 4,000 saloon under the fifty per cent reduction with a revenue of $4,000,000. So it can be seen that the higher a tax would give the state a less number of saloons and a revenue enough to more than defray half of the state expenses.

With the high tax, the passage of the original Brannock law, the search and seizure law and a law and tax more rigid on drug stores, the saloon business will be nearer a matter of history than it ever was before.

SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE.

THE VITAL NECESSITY

There is no other one thing with which I have so much trouble as this lack of persistency among advertisers. They lack the nerve to fight long and hard.

While they will expend a good deal of cash and energy in making a single plunge, they will grow tired if called upon to expend the same amount through a campaign of six months.

The road to success is an uphill road all the way. Do not try to sprint.

For a little while it goes easy, and you get over the ground fast, but the goal seems all the farther away when the nervous energy in that spur is spent. There are but 40 per cent of advertisers who make their advertising pay.

The vast never learned that persistency in advertising is the one vital necessity.

They jumped into advertising without preparation in the way of the money to meet the expense or the experience to keep from wanting it. They failed to consider that the creation of trade through advertising was a long process.—Inland Printer.

Successful merchants use our columns persistently.

Neuralgia And Other Pain.

All pain in any disease is nerve pain, the result of a turbulent condition of the nerves. The stabbing, lacerating, darting, burning, agonizing pain that comes from the prominent nerve branches, or sensory nerves, is neuralgia, and is the "big brother" of all the other pains.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills rarely ever fail to relieve these pains by soothing these larger nerves, and restoring their tranquility.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills leave no bad after-effects, and are a reliable remedy for every kind of pain, such as headache, backache, stomachache, sciatica, rheumatism and neuralgia. They also relieve Dizziness, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Car-sickness, and Distress after eating.

For many years I have been a constant sufferer from neuralgia and headache, and have never been able to obtain relief from various headache powders and capsules, until I tried Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They almost cured my headache in ten minutes time. I tried Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, and they cured me. I tried Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, and they cured me.
